QUIET REIGNS
IN SAN JOAQUIN
OIL DISTRICTS

(By Associated Press)

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Oct. 10.—Striking oil workers from the fields of the San Joaquin belt entered the fifth week of the strike with repeated determination to continue their course until they could bring the producers to sign contracts making the government the third and participating party to their agreements. No developments over the weekend occurred, and the struggle appeared to be one of endurance.

It was reported at Taft yesterday that about 2000 persons who had been receiving mail at the postoffice there when the strike began, had since registered changes of addresses to other oil producing centers not affected by the strike order. A trip through the fields on the west side yesterday showed very little change, with possibly a few more wells pumping, but as a whole the districts appeared to be almost deserted.

In the north crosscut several ledges have been passed that show mineralization, and the outlook is promising for important developments taking place in the near future. The formation in both drives is said to be favorable by W. J. Douglass, superintendent.

Over 20 men are working under the leasing system, operations being prosecuted through the old shaft, and steady shipments are going out to the MacNamara mill. The production is in keeping with those days previous to the labor troubles, and the outlook could not be better for increased shipments shortly being in order.

SPANISH BELT
MILL OPERATES
SATISFACTORILY

There is a great deal of activity in evidence at the project of the Consolidated Spanish Belt Silver Mining company, according to the official report issued this morning by James Harrod, president and general manager, which covers operations up to and including Sunday night, October 9. The report follows:

"Operations were resumed at the mill October 6 after having been delayed seven days due to the burning out of one of the two high-tension power transformers. The mill is now being being run on dump ore and the various equipment is being adjusted in order to obtain the best savings. It is the intention of the management to run through 1000 tons of dump ore before starting stopping operations of the mill itself. The mill has been located as well as the boarding house, office and cabins. A telephone system has been installed connecting the office, mill and San Pedro shaft. The telephone system will be installed in the mine during the coming week and the main tunnel will be wired for lights.

The ore chute in the San Pedro shaft was completed to the 745-foot level and 100 tons of excellent grade milling ore were stored in the chute on the Ernest level. Raise 106 was advanced 5 feet on 3 feet of low-grade quartz and lime.

"An attempt is being made to break into the old Ernest stop just above the raise on the 380-foot level. There is a cave just at this point. The muck shows considerable pieces in the fines and an occasional piece of high-grade ore.

"A fully equipped assay office has been established at the mine."
